

The high buttressed wall delineates the conservation area boundary

The access to the Hall Gardens would be improved with the existing fence replaced with a brick wall to match the adjoining walls

1 & 3 Hall Gardens that once formed part of the Witherley Hall Estate forms an interesting group of properties hidden from the main road

The Coach House on Hall Gardens. A section of the original cobbled surface still remains

A double garage on Hall Gardens which is in sympathy with its dwelling in both scale and use of materials with a glazed timber door that folds into several sections

Greenhouse that was originally part of the walled garden to Witherley Hall

Interesting building with clock on the gable end that was once accessed from the walled garden
Used as a store and hay loft and possibly by the estates farrier

The store and hay loft from its north eastern side showing the stables.
The property has planning consent for conversion to a dwelling

Mill Lane becomes a pleasant rural track leading to the River Anker and on to the Atherstone Industrial Estate

The property 2 Hall Lane provides a good visual termination to the street